BELEVVILLE, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 2.
METHODIST UNION CELEBRATION.

The Mail says:—"The Methodist Union has now passed both the Commons and the Senate, and only awaits the royal assent for it to become law. A similar measure was introduced into the Local Legislature, and passed without opposition. The only change of importance made in both bills was to alter the date on which the Union should take place from July 1st to June 1st. This was done in order to render legal the meetings of the first annual conference of the United body, which according to the constitution will meet in June. It is proposed to celebrate the consummation of Methodist Union by appropriate religious services in all the churches of Canada, and already steps have been taken by Rev. Dr. Rice toward that end."

MR. WHITE, M. P., AND HIS CRITICS.

There are some people who can understand and appreciate a joke, but there are others who are totally lacking in that faculty. Of this latter class our local cartoonist is a shining example. In a recent discussion in the Railway Committee, Mr. John White M. P., declared, in an ironical way, that he was paid for forwarding legislation for the Grand Trunk. Mr. White no doubt, with the keen instinct of a politician, knew that his countrymen are noted, intended to be a fellow member, but the Ontario, lacking the perception which have enabled it to see the point, took as serious Mr. White's jocular remarks. There is no usual malignancy and acidity in that province, but the member for East Hastings became the enemy of the hour, in being the paid advocate of a wealthy corporation, etc., and demanded an explanation from him, etc. Well, the explanation has been given, and we hope it is as well reached over the dull understanding of Mr. White's traducers. In the Commons on the 1st—a fitting day for playing so good a joke on his enemies—we learn from the Mail's reports:

Dominion Parliament.

Fifth Parliament—Second Session.

Wednesday, April 2. The Senate passed a resolution of condolence with the Queen on account of the death of Prince Leopold, and also passed the British Columbia Settlement Bill on a vote of 41 to 16.

In the Commons the report of the Privileges and Elections Committee was presented. The report of the Debates Committee recommending an increase of salaries to members was also presented.

There can be no doubt that the people of England will view with great favour the defeat of the Egyptian troops, and should the disastrous consequences which seem probable result, there can be no doubt that the Gladstone Government will be forced to resign. Raidon Correspondence.

The prolonged jangle of the sleigh bells has at last died away in the distance, and the rattles of the wagon and the rumble of the carriage is cheerfully heard.

Union meetings are now in progress in Stirling village in the Methodist churches. A Mr. Pugh, who has been in the village a few days ago, was jolted from a bed of furniture and sustained serious spinal injuries from which he died last night.

Mr. Wiley, who has been, carefully and skillfully nursed at the Bennett House in Stirling, since the railway accident near the village, about three months ago, is now, it is said, progressing favorably, and will, from present prospect, soon have the use of the fractured limb.

The authorities of the Grand Trunk, waited on Mr. Wiley yesterday, and were pleased to hear that they treated him with consideration in their remuneration.

Trap-setting "Patriots."

In an article on the bribery plot, the evils of which it is of course attributed greatly to its bug-bear, "the party system," the independent Montreal Star says: "In the light of our experience that has taken in the past, every case, there is ground for the opinion that Mr. Mevot and his colleagues were just a little too anxious to entrap their enemies into corrupt acts. There was a little too much of downright lying on the part of the incorruptible patriots to make a very pleasant story of the whole business. There was a little too much self-glorification on their part afterwards, but no more, unfortunately, than we have learned to expect from politicians of the school to which they belong."

Dr. M. Souville's Spermeter Given Free.

Encouraged by the fact that during the past few years the spermeter has been used by many of our physicians, Dr. M. Souville, of the University of Montreal, has decided to give one free to each of the students of the University of Montreal.

THE SOUTHERN WAR.

The situation in the Sudan is at present no less threatening than before the recent battles in the vicinity of Suakin and Tokar were fought. The British troops have been withdrawn from Suakin, and the only reason for this is the fact that Gordon has been defeated at Khartoum, and that the British troops are now in a position to be defeated.

550,000 Received.

For any testimonial recommending Mr. Gordon's Spermeter for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Stomachic, Headache, etc., that is not for sale—half of the same sent as a testimonial to the person in whose name it is sent. The person in whose name it is sent will receive a testimonial from the person in whose name it is sent.

Homes in the N. W. T.

DEAR SIR,—Believing that an article on the above subject will be of sufficient public interest to secure publication, I have ventured to take up a pen.

Much has been written and much more said concerning the great North-West Territory, much of which is true; while at the same time very much of it is not true, as a matter of fact, it is not a new territory, but a new name for a territory which has been known for many years.

To say that there are no grave difficulties to be encountered by the early settler would be about as wise of the truth as to say that it is not fit for the white man to live in.

While I have not travelled very extensively yet, I believe that I have seen enough to convince any man of reason that there are thousands in our own continent, as well as other parts, who are coming to the North-West Territory.

Should we only speak of what is known as the Moose Mountain district, which is a small portion of the great North-West Territory, we find that it is not a new territory, but a new name for a territory which has been known for many years.

Here, also, many of the disadvantages of the early settler are removed, as the district is getting on its second year of settlement. We now have a regular weekly mail with four or five express companies.

A few have adequate ideas of what it is to settle in this country, and generally magnify very much the extent of the difficulties. They make a great deal of talk about the "hard hit," in which many are very comfortable, and "home-made furniture," while at the same time they are living in crowded streets and lanes of cities without any of the inconveniences of the city.

Let those who can, move out, and those who cannot move can take their place, and thus there will be plenty of work found for all, and each will be benefited. Here we have plenty of the best of homes waiting for those who will come and take them, and a freedom unknown to any other laborer or mechanic, and cases are not rare of men "falling through" for a few years and now having "enough and to spare."

In regard to the North West winter, we find that most people are about as much surprised as I am, and are surprised.

We have now passed through the worst of the winter, and those who have been here for some years say that it is about an average. Yet we have enjoyed it very much. Men working on the mountains find it very pleasant, and men working in the valleys find it very pleasant.

There is no doubt that the North West winter is about an average. Yet we have enjoyed it very much. Men working on the mountains find it very pleasant, and men working in the valleys find it very pleasant.

below zero Feb. 6 p.m., mid-day, highest 42 above zero, Jan. 17; lowest 16 below zero February 11 and 19th. Seven times the highest did not reach zero, while five times it reached 32 above. Average, springing 4 below zero, evening, 3 below zero, mid-day, 11 above zero. Even the above will not give to the reader any true conception of the winter in the North-West, as it is only fully known by those who enjoy some of our fine mornings and evenings during the days of our keenest frost. What can be imagined more grand than our winter, with a bright blue sky and fall silver snow bringing into view your neighbor's home some two or two and half miles away? Yet, such we have here. Today we are having the second blizzard of the winter, yet without any serious damage. We hope this our last. As far as an experience of 8 months, together with much country, goes, there is nothing to be feared from a winter in the North-West.

As to the capital required to start in this country, it is hard to speak definitely. Men with six or eight hundred dollars can do as well as those who have more, and are doing as well as those who have less, larger sums; while others with much less, came in a few years ago, and are now quite well off. The question is, What kind of man is he? How much capital has he got? If you are coming in determined to stay, we would advise you to bring as much of your outfit with you as possible, as thus you will probably have considerable money, and be sure you do not forget your Church certificate, or letter. Thus, if you will come here with a determined mind and a trust in God, you will find many to give you a warm reception, with a earnest desire to see you succeed.

With the addition that we have in this District some of Ontario's best people, as well as those from other parts, all good citizens, and a hope that you in the future will kindly remember us in your prayers and prayers—also that we have not asked too great a favor.

We are, yours sincerely,

W. G. WILSON.

LADIES' DEPARTMENT.

The June fashions seem to be disappearing from France for the gilded thirteen, and are allowed far more liberty than they were a few years ago.

Binets of two colors are the most fashionable this summer, and many have the crown of one shade and the brim of another.

White velvet and white plush are among the styles in which French milliners dress

the crown of one shade and the brim of another.

Wastecosts of iridescent bands, arranged in Persian patterns, are the newest additions to jewelry.

Some of the new straw hats have the crowns sewn in straight, crosswise rows instead of the old-fashioned spiral.

The bonnets which are veiled in illusion,

bonnet, flowers and all, is called a "Maison."

It is a revival of an old fashion.

The riding habit of 1884 is a shade longer than a walking skirt, but only a shade, and is very narrow. All the material saved by this means is in the collar, which is very high.

Wastes of jettied net are shown in the shops and are intended to be worn with black silk or satin skirts. The black silk worn under those garments is made with sleeves and a yoke which may be removed, so that it gives the wearer her choice of the different styles.

Jettied scarfs will replace Spanish lace with those who can afford them. They are made of natural, uncolored, unbleached

linen, and have deep borders in long, easy patterns.

The English milliners make plain underskirts, and are intended to be worn with a kilted at the hem and cover the space below the petticoat and in the opening of the front with embroidered velvet and shawl. A patent hooker to keep the dress in place, and a patent hooker to appear as a separate and real economy.

Silk long cloth is a new material, prepared by an English firm, and intended to be used both for undergarments, for handkerchiefs and for boating dresses. It washes well, and skirts of the accordion plaids can be very easily made of it.

"Hop green," a very delicate tint, is in favor in England at present.

Kittens are used in the decoration of London. They are put on wall brackets, or on mirror frames and they peer over the edge of work baskets.

Jerseys with a waist of a contrasting color are among the newest variations of a three-quarter dress.

The London gloves have taken up a long trained, lace glove which is easy to adjust,

and has neither hooks nor buttons to spoil

the line.

Some of the dressmakers are trimming gray suits with navy blue, a fashion not to be approved by any one who has seen the color. Gray and blue make a combination both cold and unbecoming.

BEHAVIOR, FRIDAY, APRIL 4.
THE CINCINNATI RIOT.

The origin, progress and result of the recent riot in Cincinnati should be thoroughly studied by all friends of stable government. To many in Canada, such a lawless expression of disapproval over the verdict of a jury in the trial of a prisoner charged with murder is completely incomprehensible. They cannot understand how public opinion can be so insulted by twelve men of average intelligence as to accuse a mob of the more reckless and more bloodthirsty of crimes. Under British law a criminal, be his offence what it may, is sure to receive a fair and impartial trial. Our judiciary is above the reach of the bribe's seduction, and wealthy friends of the accused do not attempt because they cannot, to influence the verdict. We may remark, too, that three criminal lawyers, with the promise of a large fee to attorneys, their efforts, do not aspire to sway the same omniscience in Canada as in the United States. They evidently respect the material that composes the average jury, and rely less upon money considerations than their fellows would in this country. They even should a verdict be rendered by a Canadian jury that is not strictly in accordance with the evidence produced and the judge's charge, the people do not feel in the ultimate triumph of justice, and resort to mob violence, or to violence what they consider to be wrong. There is a respect paid to legal forms and judicial procedure in this country which must be regarded as one of the crowning characteristics of our people. The same respect is almost constantly administered in some of the American States, is quite obsolete here. We sometimes read about threats being made to pinch prisoners of heinous crimes, but in most, if not every instance, the writer is responsible for the expression. An elective judiciary, subject to all the corrupting influences that distinguish such ultra-partisanship as prevails in the United States, cannot command that respect and reverence which so happily attach to the bench of Canada. For similar reasons, the legal profession here in other branches is much more free from characterless sycophants and anxious pleaders than in the States. There are not the same opportunities nor the same facilities for swaying detection. We do not admit, as has been intimated, that there was a Communionist spirit at the bottom of the Cincinnati riot. Communion, as called, having whatever command it may have, was used to do with the uprising. It was a revolt against an unpopular, or rather defective administration of justice, and the lamentable result must be attributed, in a large measure, to the blundering civic authorities whose duty it was to deal with the riot. In a city like Cincinnati there should be a more powerful and dignified chief magistrate to suppress any such disturbance of the peace at the first indication. Sufficient power and authority should be given to the chief magistrate so that when the moral part of the community realized the extent of their humiliation a notice was posted warning all "criminal lawyers" to leave the city at once or take the consequences. If true, this was a tacit confession that talented men, reckless of honor and seeking only their own pecuniary interest, can so influence those entrusted with the gravest duties as to defeat the aims of justice and disgrace the records of the city. It certainly was a lamentable confession, and one that, for the honor of republican institutions, should not be repeated.

THE GRIT SCHOOL FOR SCANDAL.

The Toronto World has the following pointed remarks on the subject of the silly accusation brought against Mr. John White, M.P.: "Throw a bone to a hungry dog and the chances are it will be returned gnawed and white. The same may be said of the bone to the Grit party dogs by the regular remarking that he was paid by the Grand Trunk for supporting its bills in parliament. If Mr. White were a dog, he would most likely follow the advice given to the girl of 'kiss and never tell,' but with the rapacity of their race the morsel was torn to pieces, of course not to the improvement of the gentleman's character. It is sad to see Mr. White forced to explain the origin of the matter, and fortified himself with documents from Grand Trunk Railway officials, positively asserting that he had never been paid, but he had actually never travelled on a free pass; thus proving himself in this respect almost a paragon of a politician. The worst school for scandal of the time is your grand court of party organs, and it is to be hoped that they will attack some man's skirts more honorably than Mr. John White's. A little inquiry will show them that if the hon. member for Grand Hastings is not vulnerable in this matter of free passes there are plenty who are."

A DEADLY QUARREL.

Two Lamp Lighters Clinch and Fight.

One of them is Knocked Down and Killed.

(Montreal Witness, April 1.)

Police circles are not easily startled. It requires an extraordinary event to create the excitement that was caused last evening.

At an early hour the policeman of No. 4 station were alerted by a report that there had been a scuffle between two men, and that the fitter or more robust of the two had kicked and beaten the other to death.

The news was confined to the district which, of course, was widely known in that vicinity soon after it happened.

A reporter of the Huron was early upon the ground, and from what could be gleaned of the affair, condensed it into the following:

Yesterday evening about eight o'clock an old man named Adolphe Tessier, an old man of about sixty years of age, was proceeding along St. Andre street, accompanied by his son, a youth of tender years, to his home at No. 261, he met his brother-in-law, Tancred Miron, a young man of about 24 years, on the sidewalk opposite No. 241, proceeding in the opposite direction.

MIRON WAS THE WORKER OF LIQUOR.

Some words took place about some family affairs, when Miron struck Tessier in the face. A struggle took place. Blows were exchanged, and the men clinched and wrestled and struggled.

It was a brief contest, and ended in Tessier being knocked down. His little son, who had been an eye-witness of his father's punishment, raised the alarm, and cry of "Police Police!"

The man killer took to his heels and escaped, fleeing away toward the house of a man named Nantel, where he asked for the loan of a hat, saying he had lost his. He received the hat and went off toward his home. Meantime, a crowd had collected about the fallen man, who was helpless. They picked him up, and followed by his heart-broken young son, the party carried the dying man to his home. The boy sobbed as though his heart would break, while the crowd, growing in numbers every moment, sympathized with the little fellow, telling him it was nothing that his father would do. At last, this seemed to be the opinion of Tessier also, for when he was carried to his startled wife he warned her thus, "Don't cry and be naughty, dear, it is not much." He never spoke again, but in a short time afterwards became insensible, and soon died. Miron continued his blustering career, incited by whiskey, and boasted of his deed. "I gave a good dose of whiskey to that fellow," he said, "and Nantel. Nantel advised him to go home; but he said he would not go, as his wife had left him and was with his uncle in St. Dominique, so, because he had abused her while drunk. Straightway he started on his journey, and he intended to abuse his wife, who was there. He wanted to take his children, and at length, along with his wife and her brother, started for the Station, to try and arrange the matter. They had not proceeded far before he again commenced to quarrel with his wife. Sergeant Carpenter, who was passing, came up and asked what was the matter, and they answered "nothing particular," and the woman returned to her uncle's place. Miron continued his way to No. 2, police station, and explained that his wife was at her uncle's house, in St. Dominique street, would not give up his children, and wanted an order to make her.

Sergeant Carpenter, observing some scratch on his face, asked him what was the matter. He did not reply, but went on talking for about ten minutes about his wife and children. Constable Beaudry, coming in, said a man had been badly assaulted in St. Anne's street, and Miron said, "I took my brother-in-law, I struck him two good whacks with my fist," and shortly afterwards news of the murder coming in, he was arrested.

Pacific Railway Loan.

Owing to the utterly insufficient character of the rumors asserting that the Canadian Pacific railway has applied to the Government for further financial assistance, Sir John Macdonald in his place to-night gave the rumor an unequivocal dismissal. No application, verbal or written, had been made by the company or by anyone acting on its behalf, for further pecuniary assistance. It appears that the whole story was got up by some of the Opposition to damage the Canadian Pacific railway, by injuriously affecting the market value of the stock. The work of discrediting the Canadian Pacific railway, in which the Opposition have been engaged with so much gusto and persistence, it would seem, to be still continued by them in the interest of the United States transcontinental line. (Ottawa Correspondent of the Mail.)

New School Regulations.

Changes Relating to the Examinations for Teachers' Certificates.

By regulations recently adopted, some changes are effected respecting the examinations for teachers' certificates in July next.

1. Reading has heretofore been neglected to a certain extent in our High Schools, and as a consequence no examination was required in this subject from candidates applying for second or third class certificates. The new regulations provide that every candidate must read a passage to be selected by the County Board of Examiners, and in the presence of an examiner appointed by the County Board for this purpose, the result of this test to be sent to the Educational Department. It is thought by this means that greater attention will be paid to this very important subject of the school curriculum.

2. Another subject very much neglected in writing, and in this no standard was required. Under the new regulations excellence in penmanship will be absolutely necessary. Although writing is not generally regarded as a test of scholarship, still it is very desirable that greater attention should be paid to it in our Public Schools, and excellence in a teacher is one of securing excellence in the pupil.

3. To encourage the study of music and drawing an examination may be passed in either or both of these subjects, and the number of marks obtained by the candidate will be added as a bonus to the total obtained in the obligatory subjects, and thus assist in making up the aggregate necessary for a certificate. It is hoped by this means to encourage the study of music and drawing in all the Public Schools of Ontario.

4. The examinations for second-class will immediately follow the intermediate and third-class examinations, so that both can be taken by the same candidate, but third class certificates will not be awarded on second-class papers.

5. Every candidate will be required to pay a fee of one dollar towards defraying the expenses of his examinations. In these examinations have cost the Province between $5,000 and $6,000. It is considered just that candidates themselves should bear this burden, and in doing so they are subsidizing the education of the teacher.

6. It has been the practice in the Department in order to retain successful teachers in the profession to renew third-class certificates on the recommendation of the Inspector and the Board of School Trustees without re-examination. This custom has been found to operate injuriously. Many teachers were content to continue teaching on a third-class certificate trusting to the indulgence of the Inspector and the Board of School Trustees for a renewal. Under the new regulations no renewal can be obtained without re-examination except under very special circumstances, but in order to prevent the worthy teacher from leaving the profession, the Inspector is to be allowed to add any number of marks up to the number made by such a candidate at the non-professional examination.

In this way the teacher is obliged to keep up with the educational advancement of the country by constantly revising his studies, and if successful, his services receive an appropriate reward. It is also hoped that a re-examination will have the tendency of inducing many who would have disposed of their certificates to the Province, to give up their higher ranks of their profession.

The following is the full list of the regulations regarding the forthcoming examinations:

NOTE.—It will be observed that the material change introduced into the curriculum for the present year, is that the candidate reading and writing are required. Candidates for 1st intermediate only will take the subjects 1, 2, 3, and 4, and either subjects 8, 9, or 11 as formerly.

The obligatory subjects of this examination for 1884 are as follows:

1. Reading. Value. Minimum required.

2. English grammar. 100 25

3. English literature. 100 25

4. Composition. 100 25

5. Dictation. 100 25

6. Arithmetic. 100 25

7. History. 100 25

I have already acted upon a broad principle heretofore to support this measure. Now, I wish to say that when I first entered the life of a lawyer, I entered into what is called political life, or into Parliament. I was asked by two clergymen of the Roman Catholic Church in my part of the country what I would do for them if they supported me. My answer to them, in answer to their letters, was, "I will do for you what I can, and I will do for you what I think is right, and that right is refused them by a certain number of the community, who are unwilling that it should be granted. Then I am willing to give to that section who opposed them, similar rights; for I think there should be reciprocity in these matters. These are the views I entertain on this subject, which was formally expressed by a division connected with the Church of Rome, or against the clergymen of that church, although I am sure that I have not been carrying out in my country. I have always been willing to give to them what I can, and I did not care whether they supported me or not. I never said, 'I will do for you what I can, and I will do for you what I think is right, and that right is refused them by a certain number of the community, who are unwilling that it should be granted. Then I am willing to give to that section who opposed them, similar rights; for I think there should be reciprocity in these matters. OUR MANITOBA LETTER.

Mr. Editor.—After a long silence I again offer you a long letter on the subject of the Manitoba letter.

First of all, I have had a very fine winter only a moderate amount of snow, say a foot in depth on the level only two storms of any significance, and as the weather was mild during the last one it caused more annoyance than any other.

Our roads have not been broken all winter though the thermometer indicates that the weather has been very steady though tolerably cold. Once only to my knowledge did the thermometer indicate that the weather was very steady

though tolerably cold. Once only to my

Daily Intelligence.
BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, APRIL 17.
A GRIT FICTION EXPOSED.

When the question of aiding the Pacific Railway Company to complete their line four years in advance of the time named in the contract, the Grit party, with assertions that a crisis existed—that the Quebec members had banded themselves together and refused to support the proposal of the Government unless the crisis was a financial readjustment and for repayment of the amount paid by the local Legislature in aid of the construction of certain lines of railways, were favorably considered.

On the strength of these assertions the Globe, thinking the opportunity favorable for seating the Grit party in power on conditions which Sir John A. Macdonald would not grant, made the necessary attempt to buy up the French Conservative members, which was contained in these words, that formed part of its editorial on the subject:

"If the proposed vote of thirty millions of dollars to the C. P. R. has alarmed Ontario it has terrified Quebec. To us it means a vast needless waste of public funds to Quebec it means all that, and, in addition, it creates serious doubts in the very heart of the province."

"Why cannot they unite with the French Liberals for once in a while? It is the only fit that threatens to overwhelm us all, and after that national danger is averted let them go their separate ways, confident that they will find their way to the light."

This infamous proposal was received by those to whom it was addressed with the contempt which it merited. Had the organ but known, as it might have learned by inquiry in the proper quarter, that its information was totally incorrect, and that, in humiliating exposure of the depths of infamy which its party were prepared to descend to in order to place themselves in office.

That the story was manufactured out of whole cloth was shown by Mr. Chaplain in his speech on the railway resolutions, in the course of which he said:

"The hon. gentleman had said that the Government had been swayed by the Quebec members, and that the Quebec members had banded themselves together and refused to support the proposal of the Government unless the crisis was a financial readjustment and for repayment of the amount paid by the local Legislature in aid of the construction of certain lines of railways, were favorably considered."

Even more emphatic was the contradiction given by the Premier, who said:

"I am chiefly, sir, to speak with reference to the language that has been used by the Quebec members in the House in relation to the North Shore railway and the expenditure of the Government on the Quebec railway. I have said that the Quebec members had banded themselves together and refused to support the proposal of the Government unless the crisis was a financial readjustment and for repayment of the amount paid by the local Legislature in aid of the construction of certain lines of railways, were favorably considered."

more complete exposure of the tactics of the Grit party could be made than is desired. "Anything for power" is their motto; but the people know them too well to trust them, and their efforts to secure, by corrupt means and by the cunningly composed speech of Mr. Blake, the support of the House, has been wholly without effect.

Lodis E. Prichard's Vegetable Compound is the only medicine for ladies of all ages, and is the only medicine that can be taken without any harm. It is the only medicine that can be taken without any harm. It is the only medicine that can be taken without any harm.

Deliberate Suicide.

Joseph Carrier, an operative in a boot and shoe manufactory in Montreal, proceeded to the river front on the 14th and deliberately committed suicide in the presence of crowds assembled on the shore by jumping into the river and refusing aid when offered to him. After the plunge descended once to the surface with his arms folded, and refusing to catch a plank that was thrown to him went down by his own action and was never seen again. Before his fatal act, J. Carrier had been in the acquaintance of his wife, and had been in the habit of talking to her of his intention to commit suicide. He was a man of about 40 years of age, and was a native of France.

Very Remarkable Recovery.

Mr. G. W. Willing, of Manchester, Mich., writes that he has been almost blind for five years—helpless that he could not turn his eyes in his head. He used two bottles of Eucalypti, and is so much improved that he is now able to do his own work. FEARFUL TORNADO.
Forty-ale Houses Blown Down.—Many Persons Killed.—Railroads Washed Out.
Atlanta, Ga., April 17.—The tornado which swept over a part of the state on Tuesday morning has done much damage. It has blown down many houses, and has washed out the railroads. Many persons have been killed, and the damage is estimated at millions of dollars.

Afternoon Despatches.

CABLE NOTES.
Big Fire at Bangor.—Bangor for Gordon's Rescues.—The Dynamites.
London, April 17.—A great fire is raging at Bangor, and many persons have been killed. The dynamites are being used to clear the way for the rescue of the prisoners.

United States.

A Judge Coughlin.—Train Wreck.
St. Paul, Minn., April 17.—Judge Reil, of the Superior Court, was seriously injured by a train wreck at St. Paul. The train was carrying a large number of passengers, and the accident was caused by a defective brake.

Deliberate Suicide.

Joseph Carrier, an operative in a boot and shoe manufactory in Montreal, proceeded to the river front on the 14th and deliberately committed suicide in the presence of crowds assembled on the shore by jumping into the river and refusing aid when offered to him. After the plunge descended once to the surface with his arms folded, and refusing to catch a plank that was thrown to him went down by his own action and was never seen again. Before his fatal act, J. Carrier had been in the acquaintance of his wife, and had been in the habit of talking to her of his intention to commit suicide. He was a man of about 40 years of age, and was a native of France.

Very Remarkable Recovery.

Mr. G. W. Willing, of Manchester, Mich., writes that he has been almost blind for five years—helpless that he could not turn his eyes in his head. He used two bottles of Eucalypti, and is so much improved that he is now able to do his own work. DUTIES OF CATHOLIC BISHOPS.
New York Herald Bureau.
In many episcopal letters of the Pope, which will be published next week, Leo XIII. has special notice upon Freemasonry, and the necessity is emphasized to defend "The City of God" against "The City of Satan." The following is a list of the duties of the Catholic bishops, as set forth by the Pope in his encyclical letter of the 10th of March, 1884.

Faint, illegible text impressions are visible along the left edge, suggesting it is a page from an old book or document. The text is too faded to be read but appears to be organized in columns.

Daily Intelligence.

As many substances now in common use are of a poisonous nature, and are so readily absorbed into the system, it is not surprising that a few hints with regard to the prevention of such cases may be of service.
Poisons may be divided into three classes, namely, vegetable and mineral, and artificial and natural.

When considering their effect upon the body, poisons may be divided into irritants, narcotics and narcotics.

The effect of irritants (such as cantharides, chloroform, carbolic acid, etc.) upon the system is to produce inflammation, and a few hints with regard to the prevention of such cases may be of service.

"Poor, poor. If I hadn't been lucky

"Yes, sah, and Jim set about furnishing him with a dinner. He had no time to

Dr. Wild is billed to deliver a lecture in Pictou on the evening of Thursday.

The station at the Crookston crossing of the Ontario & Quebec railway is nearly completed.

About thirty new buildings are in process of erection in Trenton and more are to be commenced.

There seems to be no relaxation of interest in the Rube Rumbler movement in Brighton. 602 members have been enrolled.

Napane papers complain that parties are almost daily violating the fish and game laws, by exposing pickered for sale in that market.

Yesterday, the Bishop of Ontario, with (D.V.) held confirmation services in the Church of St. John the Baptist, in Malton, on Friday, May 2nd.

On the afternoon of the 14th inst. about three o'clock, the house of Mr. Murphy, about one mile west of Murphy's Corner, was destroyed by fire.

Some time ago Mr. A. Ross, of Kingston, received a letter from Napane which was signed with the name of "Napane."

Equally as he signed the name of "Napane" on which was written the words "conscience money."

The Napane Bearer says: "A nice point in low cable up in the Niagara County, New York, was destroyed by fire."

Mr. A. D. Sills, Fishery Inspector for this county, laid a complaint against John Gilmour for fishing with a net in Big Creek. Defendant pleaded that the land on both sides, and in the bottom of the creek was private property, owned by one person, and that he was fishing by and with the consent of the owner or tenant, and in accordance with the custom from time immemorial.

Justice James submitted the facts to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, his decision, and adjourned the case until Monday, to await a reply. Two licenses have already been granted on the creek, by the Dominion Government.

Trenton Notes.

Building operations are brisk in all parts of the town, and masons and carpenters are pretty busy at present.

Gilmour & Co.'s small mill is running day and night.

The "Blue Bird" movement has been very successful here. Over five hundred persons have taken the pledge, and in the meantime, the Temperance meetings, the "Saved Army," and the continued projected meetings of the "Blue Bird" Church, have all been fairly deserted during each evening.

There are certain of our Town Council who would like very much to squander $20,000 on what they are pleased to call public improvements.

It is a pity that the very much needed $20,000 added to our present indebtedness. The town now is overtaxed, and capitalists will not come here to invest money.

WHO'S YOUR FRIEND?

Lord Bertie Elmore walked into his wife's sitting room one afternoon, with an unusually serious expression on his face. For Lord Bertie was a young man of cheerful disposition, not given to serious thoughts. He found Lady Bertie in her room, engaged in the absorbing occupation of looking in the glass. She did not notice his entrance, but continued to study the dimples in her chin. She had been a recognized beauty when she married her husband, and for years she had been so. She was now, however, a little past the prime of life, and she was not so much admired as she once was. She was now, however, a little past the prime of life, and she was not so much admired as she once was.

Lord and Lady Bertie had been married two years, and they were still excellent friends. No jealousy or misunderstanding had, as yet, marred their content with each other. Lord Bertie sat down and looked attentively for a moment at his wife's back. It was an exceedingly pretty sight, but he did not look at it for long. He was thinking of the fact that he had not yet seen her in the morning. He was thinking of the fact that he had not yet seen her in the morning.

"May, is there anything you want?" "Anything?" "I want to see you in the morning," said Lady Bertie. "I want to see you in the morning," said Lady Bertie. "I want to see you in the morning," said Lady Bertie. "I want to see you in the morning," said Lady Bertie.

"Don't talk nonsense, May. I'm in earnest. And I do want you to turn round." "I'm busy," replied Lady Bertie. "I'm busy," replied Lady Bertie. "I'm busy," replied Lady Bertie. "I'm busy," replied Lady Bertie.

"You are getting handsomer, I believe," said Lord Bertie, still in the same gloomy tone. "I'm very glad you still in the same gloomy tone," said Lord Bertie. "I'm very glad you still in the same gloomy tone," said Lord Bertie. "I'm very glad you still in the same gloomy tone," said Lord Bertie.

"Oh, do," said Lady Bertie, "the servant that has been sent to the door. I shall be half over it." "Well, I don't want to make a fool of myself, and I'm sure I'm not doing it," said Lady Bertie. "Well, I don't want to make a fool of myself, and I'm sure I'm not doing it," said Lady Bertie.

"Not at all. But if you are in difficulties I'm ready to get you out of them. There's my hand. I say, and all I ask is, don't go to anybody else." "What do you mean by that?" said Lady Bertie. "What do you mean by that?" said Lady Bertie. "What do you mean by that?" said Lady Bertie.

"But there's nothing to be serious about, I assure you. I'm not going to tell you why my friend comes here, or what my business is with him. I'm not going to tell you why my friend comes here, or what my business is with him. I'm not going to tell you why my friend comes here, or what my business is with him."

The breach gradually widened until it became evident to their intimate friends that Lord and Lady Bertie were no longer on good terms. As to their domestic life, it was shipwrecked, and that very easily. Lady Bertie went through her accustomed round of social duties, and was just as gay and just as bright as ever. But she never saw her husband, except when he came to her as a matter of business. For a little while she amused her father; it was like playing in a French comedy to have a sulky, jealous husband, and to be consoled by a hundred charming creatures, all admirers of her husband's. For consolation of her father, she was a very good friend. She was a very good friend. She was a very good friend.

WELL, I don't propose to run away just now—that is, if you're reasonable. The present agreeable state of things has led me to believe, from the day when I would tell you who my friend was. Now I tell you my confidence, will you keep what I tell you from every living soul? "That depends," said Lord Bertie, cautiously.

"Then I will not take you into my confidence. Consider that nothing has been said. We will go on as we were, and things shall take their course." "I'm not sure," said Lord Bertie, "I'm not sure," said Lord Bertie. "I'm not sure," said Lord Bertie.

My friends to whom I have a specialty cure high fever recommended it to me, and I have used it in every case. I have had for five years. I consider it the only safe and sure cure for Cholera, Colic, etc." Call at R. Thompson's Large and get a trial bottle free. Large size, 50¢.

An Ironical Suggestion.

The "Irish Canadian" View of the Migration.

From the Irish Canadian.

In the face of Archbishop Lynch's letter to the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie in which he explicitly states by his Grace that the Priest, as such, has no concern in politics—it is difficult to believe that the document quoted above has either been written or inspired by his Grace. The venerable relation is too well acquainted with Mr. Mowat's action on the Orange question to risk the statement of the Hon. Mr. Lynch's letter—namely, that the part of the Ontario Premier going to the extent of incorporating the Orange bill and satisfying the brethren in every demand that they then put forward. Remembering this, it is hardly possible that Archbishop Lynch could have fallen into the error of supposing that Mr. Meredith could go any step further than Mr. Mowat does; or that Mr. Meredith could go any step further than Mr. Mowat does.

Mr. Mowat did not satisfy the demand for Orange incorporation. If the brethren are still seeking, not legal recognition, for Mr. Mowat has given them that long ago, but the right to own, hold, and dispose of property, the fact is not Mr. Mowat's, but the fault of Sir John Macdonald, who returned Sir John's Act incorporating the Orangemen, with the intimation that it was perfectly within the power of his Lieutenant Governor to sign it and make it the law of Ontario.

Then it is not reasonable to suppose that the venerable Archbishop would take any man who had refused to obey the law of his own country while they were starting, against a man of broad and tolerant views, who had always been free with his means in aid of every good work. It is not, we repeat, only by his Grace's own invitation that the very danger which he is not to apprehend by throwing his great influence in favor of Mr. Drury, an Orangeman, and against Mr. Slaven, a practical Catholic, and such a course on the part of the venerable Archbishop, would be still more incomprehensible from the fact that his Grace has the credit he spoken in conjunction with the other bishops of the province, gave the principle of Catholic representation, as embodied in the platform of the Catholic League, his most cordial approval. Is it possible, then, that Archbishop Lynch, with this evidence of his paternal interest in the political welfare of Catholics on record, would so soon
